

This set will cover a variety of international 20' and 40' sea containers for the Orient Overseas Container Line (OOCL). The 1970s saw an increasing amount of shipping containers via COFC and with container chassis via TOFC. The early opportunities in this new mode of international trade spawned a very successful company that can be seen into the present day. In the period of the 1970s to mid 1985 time frame, OOCL has adjusted it's corporate image substantially. This set covers the major heralds depicted in this timeframe and is appropriate for equipment that could be spotted even into the early 1990s.
